

Western Poconos Vacation Association Formally Organized

Group Adopts Pennsylvania Dutch Motif

Western Poconos Vacation Association was formally launched here last night by 41 charter members.

Group's purpose is to "promote the western end of the Poconos region."

Publicity chairman Robert Hoffman said the group planned to use "Pennsylvania Dutch" as a motif.

WPVA will feature "family and farm life" as its inducement to vacationers, drawing on the rich west area farmlands and tradition for color.

Ludwig Koeniger, Kunkletown, was named president. Other officers: Wittold Titwick, Saylorsburg; vice president; Charles De La Bar, Sciota, treasurer; Mrs. John Shotwell, Effort, secretary.

On the board of governors are Charles Knecht, Brodheadsville; William Sabatine, Saylorsburg; Raymond Repp, Gilbert; Joseph Caesar, Wind Gap; Olive Bond, Brodheadsville; Anna Ciel, Effort; Floyd S. Altenose, Brodheadsville.

The group decided that all advertising will be on an individual basis as before, but it will jointly take steps to call attention to the vacation aspects of the Western Poconos. Among the steps: billboards at the entrances to the western portions; a directory of vacation facilities; maps for public distribution, listing locations of members' resorts, motels, house-keeping cottages and restaurants.

Hoffman said a membership drive will be launched at once.

At the next meeting at 7:45 p.m. March 7 at Ye Saylors Inn, members will discuss financing of the organization, and methods by which purveyors and business people may associate themselves with the group.

Committees will be appointed to handle charter, legal, advertising and transportation aspects of the work.

All those not yet reached by association members are invited to the March 7 meeting, Hoffman said.

Mayors Praise Eisenhower's Highway Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower's pay-as-you-use highway program got a big boost today from the nation's mayors, who labelled it "the best method" to build up a road network fit for the atomic age.

But Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), Chairman of the Senate Public Roads Subcommittee and author of a rival highway bill, said the President's proposal amounts to a "crash" or rush program and that its enactment likely would set off a new inflationary spiral.

Gore's bill would increase federal aid for highway building by eight billion dollars through direct congressional appropriations over the next five years.

The president's proposal was for a new 25-billion-dollar network of interstate highways to be financed through a 30-year bond issue guaranteed by a federal highway corporation.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit summed up the views of the American Municipal Association, made up of representatives of 12,000 municipalities in 44 states, this way:

"On a pay-as-you-go basis, even with a considerable increase in appropriations as allocated in Bill S. 1048 (the Gore bill), it is evident that the present interstate highway system need not be met in less than 30 years."

"I feel sure that the people do not want to wait 30 years and are willing to pay the extra interest costs so that they may have the use of these highways in the immediate future."

Ice Jam Blasted In Effort To Find Boy's Body

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP)—An ice jam in Pine Creek was dynamited today by rescue workers seeking the body of 7-year-old William Shaffer believed to have drowned in the creek last weekend. But no trace of him was found immediately afterward.

The Shaffer boy disappeared while he and a playmate, Raymond McGill, 8, were playing on the ice-covered creek near the Shaffer boy's home in Pine Creek Twp.

Both boys were thrown into the water when the ice broke under their weight. Shaffer scrambled back on the ice and pulled up McGill after him. However, both tumbled back into the water.

McGill was rescued a short time later but Shaffer disappeared under the ice. Fire Chief Charles Peterman, Avis, said he believed the boy's body was trapped under the ice by the heavy current.

Monroe County Red Cross Launches Annual Drive For $16,190 Today

THE RED Cross Month of March opens in Monroe County today, as it does all over the nation, with a small army of volunteers ready to invite their neighbors not only to give funds but to become participating members of the American Red Cross. The national goal is $85,000,000 and 30,000,000 members.

Monroe County's share of that goal is $16,190 in money and the enrollment of every member possible. Anyone who gives $1 or more is listed as a member of the American Red Cross.

Fred Rhodes, chairman of the 1955 Campaign for Members and Funds, stressed the fact that captains and workers throughout the townships will be seeking not only to raise their township's monetary quota but also to broaden the base of members actively supporting the Red Cross program.

The Red Cross program in Monroe County is an active one and most of it is done by volunteers, Rhodes pointed out. In home service to servicemen, veterans and their dependents; in the blood program which not only furnished blood for all local needs but also for the armed forces and civilian defense; in the nursing service to train everyone to care for the sick at home, in the safety services of first aid and water safety, in the junior Red Cross and in the volunteer service groups, the local chapter has done a yeoman service, he said.

Voluntary contributions go a long way when aided by the volunteer service of Red Cross workers. On the national level 100 out of every 101 Red Cross workers

THE AMERICAN Red Cross emblem blazes from the new red, white and blue parcel post truck put into service yesterday at the Stroudsburg Postoffice. Standing by to watch the launching of the 1955 Red Cross Drive for Members and Funds which opens this morning is Postmaster Fred Rhodes, chairman of this year's county campaign.

Motor Corps did valiant service in transporting veterans to hospitals in Wilkes-Barre, Philadelphia, Allentown, Bethlehem, with 10 volunteers giving 263 hours of time. Nurse's Aides, 20 in number, during the year, gave 1022 hours of their time.

Registered nurses, 27 of them, added to their already busy working day by contributing 573 hours of time at the Blood Bank. There were 24 doctors who gave 85 hours in assisting the blood donor program. Nine staff aids gave 334 hours; 12 administration aids helped in chapter work; and 17 others contributed 360 hours to make up the total.

These 10,614 hours of service will be swelled by the work of the volunteer canvassers who today began their task of calling at every home to give everyone an opportunity to give.

The results of this work, he said, were being prepared for publication.

He accused a former scientific associate, Nobel Prize winner I. I. Rabi of Columbia University, of being a "prisoner of opinion" and asked if he still believed that Russia would never be able to produce atomic energy. Prof. Rabi is the U.S. representative on a U.N. advisory board which is preparing the world atoms-for-peace conference in Geneva this year.

Pontecorvo also appealed to his former scientific associates in France, Britain, Italy, Canada and the United States to protest against the use of atomic energy for military purposes.

"In 1950 I emigrated from Britain where I worked in the laboratory in Harwell and asked for asylum in the Soviet Union," Pontecorvo wrote.

"A right of asylum was given me and my family and since then we have enjoyed every care and attention for which I consider it my duty to thank the Soviet people and its government."

This was the first public statement by Pontecorvo since his disappearance in October 1950.

It was the first indication that Westerners in Moscow had that world-famed atomic scientist was definitely living in the Soviet Union.

Clement Attlee, Laborite opposition leader, shares the fears, but believes with Churchill that Britain must build H-bombs in the absence of an international agreement on total disarmament.

Laborites are not challenging the government's decision to go ahead with the H-bomb. Attlee will kick off the debate by criticizing other aspects of the defense program.

A Labor resolution says "until effective world disarmament has been achieved it is necessary as a deterrent to aggression to reply on the threat of using thermonuclear weapons."

The resolution accuses the government of failure to reorganize the armed services and civil defense to meet needs of the nuclear age. And it says the Churchill government has failed to account for "grave and admitted deficiencies in weapons" after spending billions for defense.

The debate will begin as the five-nation U.N. subcommittee on disarmament resumes secret sessions here. There is no real optimism on the western side that the group will achieve anything.

Lenten Meditation

By William Lopez
121 Broad St., Stroudsburg

On Ash Wednesday, we all heard the admonition "Remember O man that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return."

These words, to me, not only set up a pattern of what I should practice during Lent, but for the entire year as well. However, I realized that during Lent, God's graces are more abundant than at any other time, consequently I try to avoid the material pleasures of the day and attempt to gain more of the spiritual bene-

Pontecorvo, Atom Expert, In Russia

MOSCOW, Tuesday, March 1 (AP)—Bruno Pontecorvo, the Italian-born British atomic scientist, dissolved the five-year mystery of his whereabouts today. He disclosed he has been working on atomic projects for the Soviet Union since 1950.

(The 42-year-old scientist, has been called by official Washington the second most deadly spy in history.)

He made the revelation in identical letters to the editors of Pravda and Izvestia, the Communist party and Soviet government newspapers.

He said he quit the capitalist West because the preparations there to use atomic energy for military purposes made him "ashamed of my profession."

Pontecorvo, now disclosed to have checked out for Moscow in September 1950, has been credited by Washington officials with first-rate knowledge of hydrogen bomb secrets.

In his letter he said he was enjoying "every care and attention" in the Soviet Union and was being permitted to work with "excellent" technical equipment. He described Soviet research as being "conducted on the widest scale and on a very high technical level."

The results of this work, he said, were being prepared for publication.

He accused a former scientific associate, Nobel Prize winner I. I. Rabi of Columbia University, of being a "prisoner of opinion" and asked if he still believed that Russia would never be able to produce atomic energy. Moves To Reduce Income Levy On Three-Year Basis

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Sen. Barkley (D-Ky.) sought with a new compromise plan today to rescue the $20-a-person income tax cut from death in the Senate Finance Committee.

Barkley proposed that the cut be reached in easy stages, with a $10 reduction being allowed for every taxpayer and dependent in 1956, $15 in 1957 and $20 in 1958.

His motion, and other committee action on the House-passed bill, was put over until tomorrow afternoon. The committee will hear a pro-reduction witness tomorrow.

Asked who the witness would be, Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) said: "We're going out now and look for him."

Later Smathers announced the witness would be Leon Keyserling, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under former President Truman. He is now an economic consultant and attorney.

Keyserling has advocated recently that the federal government take steps to boost consumer purchasing power, contending that the economy is lagging well behind levels needed for full employment.

Keyserling was the leader in the drafting of a report issued Saturday by the National Conference on Economic Progress, which describes itself as a nonprofit, non-political organization.

The report urged an increase in personal income tax exemptions and heavier spending by the government.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.), who opposes granting the reduction while the government is operating in the red, was asked if he still believed the committee would eliminate it.

"I don't feel badly about the situation," he responded.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), former chairman, announced: "I shall vote to strike out of the bill the $20 provision. If later an impasse develops between the House and Senate over terms of the measure, I might have some suggestions at that time. However, I have no compromise to offer now."

Assuming the Republicans on the committee voted against the $20 cut, which is opposed by the Eisenhower administration, the votes of George and Byrd would seal the verdict. There are eight Democrats and seven Republicans on the committee.

But if the Senate should approve a bill continuing present corporation and excise tax rates, without the $20 income tax cut—which is what George advocated—there could be an impasse with the House.

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.), member of the House Ways and Means Committee which drafted the combination bill passed by the House Friday, said: "So far as I am concerned, unless the $20-a-person reduction is agreed to, there will be no tax bill at all. I would just as soon see the excise taxes die, because I am against them anyway."

Corporation income taxes will drop from a rate of 52 per cent to 47 per cent April 1, unless there is legislation continuing them. The same is true as to varying excises on automobiles, cigarettes, gasoline, liquor, beer and wine.

Continuing these rates would yield almost three billion dollars a year in federal revenue. The income tax cut would cost about $2,200,000,000 over a full year.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the Finance Committee's sole witness today, denounced as "strictly phony" a "compromise plan backed by some Democrats on the committee."

The compromise would make the effective date of the $20 cut July 1, 1956 instead of Jan. 1, 1956, as the House proposed. It would not be felt at all in the fiscal year beginning this July 1. It would also keep the corporation and excise rates where they are until July 1, 1956 instead of April 1, 1956.

Humphrey saw this delay in the $20 cut as a scheme for "holding out tax relief with the idea it might be repealed."

He repeated the administration stand that it wants to cut taxes, and will when it can, but added: "Neither you nor I know what the picture is going to be like 16 months from now."

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky.) asked if a $2,200,000,000 income tax reduction would not lead to more jobs and production.

Humphrey said not necessarily, because it might destroy confidence of businessmen and investors. He said the effects of inflation would more than offset any good results.

Byrd and Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) praised Humphrey for his emphasis on inflation. Byrd said there was no doubt that red ink spending by the government had been largely responsible for cheapening the dollar.

Explosion Wrecks Brentwood Home

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28 (AP)—An explosion wrecked a new home in suburban Brentwood today seconds after its occupants hear a loud hissing noise and fled to the street.

The blast ripped off the roof and flattened the back and front walls of the home of William J. Richards, 38, a steel plant guard.

The neighboring homes of Mrs. Albert Lavelle and Ralph Gastel caught fire. Firemen quickly extinguished the flames. Cause of the blast was not determined.

Sen. Yosko Proposes Construction Of Wallpack Bend Dam

Asks Senate Approval Of Legislation

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28 (P)—Legislation calling for Pennsylvania's approval of a proposed dam on the upper Delaware River reached the Senate tonight.

Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D—Northampton) introduced the measure to permit construction of the dam in the vicinity of Wallpack Bend, north of scenic Delaware Water Gap at Bushkill.

Similar legislation already has been passed by the New Jersey Legislature. Pennsylvania must approve the idea by July 1 in order to coincide with the New Jersey law, Yosko said.

The bill also would permit construction of a diversion dam on the Delaware River near Brookville or Yardley.

The entire project is an outgrowth of years of discussions and negotiations between Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

A number of New Jersey legislators are to meet with Pennsylvania's lawmakers in the office of Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader, on Wednesday to review Delaware River water supply problems.

Other new Senate bills would:

Increase the investment powers of state administrative departments, boards, commissioners and officers to include bonds, notes or other obligations of the international bank for reconstruction and development — John H. Dent (D—Westmoreland) and James S. Berger (R—Potter).

Appropriate $5,000 to the Department of Military Affairs for payment of a claim of the loss of right of an eye due to hazing in the Pennsylvania National Guard — Samuel B. Wolfe (R—Union).

Appropriate $136,000 to the Department of Property and Supplies for repairs and improvements to the Pennsylvania Soldiers and Sailors Home at Erie — C. Arthur Blass (R—Erie), Albert R. Pechan (R—Armstrong), Hugh J. McMenamin (D—Lackawanna).

Red Cross Opens Drive

tunity to join the Red Cross and to aid in its work.

The work goes beyond the bounds of the county and the President of the United States has officially proclaimed March as Red Cross Month. The Red Cross, he pointed out, for more than 70 years has served as the nation's official volunteer agency to act in matters of relief under international treaties.

The American people through Red Cross membership and the voluntary contribution of their time, their blood and their money, have made possible discharge of obligations during periods of both war and peace. The Red Cross has through services to armed forces all over the world and extension of relief to sufferers from disasters at home and abroad, and through its program "saved lives, salvaged hopes and preserved human dignity," he said, in urging all Americans to join and serve the Red Cross.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (P)—President Eisenhower appealed tonight for public support of the 1956 Red Cross drive for 85 million dollars and 30 million members.

The drive begins tomorrow. In a filmed message for use on television the President said that he personally believes the sights set by the Red Cross "are far too low."

"Mrs. Eisenhower and I," he said, "have just renewed our membership in the Red Cross. It is my ambition that by the end of March I can call every single American my fellow member of the American Red Cross."

With the chief executive at the White House when the film was made was a group of ten-year boys and girls. He said he asked them to be present "because these youngsters are our future leaders" and "our hope for a brighter tomorrow." He added:

"Now many of these lessons of leadership they learn at home, in their churches, in their schools and other organizations to which they belong . . . but they learn a lot from the Red Cross in which they are all junior members. They learn that the Red Cross is in fact our big brother. It typifies the spirit of the good neighbor. Now these sentiments—these qualities—are important to a democracy."

"They mean that we are ready to help one another. These youngsters will learn this as they see the Red Cross rush into disaster areas, to help out of every kind of disaster that befalls man in peace and in war."

The President said he personally is far better acquainted with the Red Cross in war than in peacetime because he spent so many years of his life in the Army. "There they brought to the fighting man in all services a touch of home," The President said. "They made him feel his sacrifices were worthwhile and appreciated by all of us at home."

East-West Pike Plans To Be Aired

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28 (P)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and members of the Senate Highways Committee will get together this week to discuss new proposals for extension of the super highway.

Chairman George N. Wade (R—Cumberland), of the Senate committee, said his group will have "an open meeting with the commission and discuss all proposed extensions."

Top among the proposals are two suggested parallel east-west routes across the northern tier of Pennsylvania counties, one of them a more central route.

The committee appeared favoring the more southerly of the two proposed routes. This route would run from Sharon to Stroudsburg.

Sen. C. Arthur Blass (R—Erie), a co-sponsor of both measures, said he thinks the northerly route will be regarded as "too expensive" by the commission.

He explained that route "possibly would involve construction of tunnels."

"The more central route might be more feasible, particularly if Route U. S. 6 is widened," he added.

Last week a resolution was introduced by a group of senators urging that the State Highways Department request that improvements to Route 6 be included in the new federal highways plan.

The proposal calls for widening the highway, termed the most direct route, between Cleveland and New York, to four lanes across all of northern Pennsylvania.

Seventeen Republican and Democratic senators sponsored the Sharon-Stroudsburg route proposal.

Nationwide Vaccination For Polio

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (P)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said that plans are ready for nationwide polio vaccination this year if reports from last year's tests are favorable.

An evaluation of the polio vaccine, based on test inoculations on 1,830,000 school children last summer, is not expected until April of this year. However, the foundation said, state health officers have started a "preparedness program" so no time need be lost if the vaccine is approved.

Gifts Received By Hospital, Board Reports

MONROE COUNTY General Hospital has received gifts of $200 and two new valuable pieces of equipment, it was announced following the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors at the hospital last night. President Frank S. LaBar presided.

A bequest of $100 was received from the will of the late Charles W. Crommett, formerly of Monroe County. It is included in property located at Cherry Valley. A check for a similar sum was sent to the board by Atty. and Mrs. Reuben Golin of New York.

The Golin explained it marked the anniversary of an accident which resulted in their confinement at the East Stroudsburg hospital for six weeks. A letter stated the check was to show their appreciation for "the warm sustaining flood of human sympathy which buoyed us up and carried us through those troubled weeks."

An electric needle sharpener was added as a gift from the General Hospital Auxiliary. The other new equipment was a refrigerator for the nurses' home. The latter gift was from the Anne Logan Hospital Auxiliary.

Several other letters of appreciation were read during the meeting. One of these was from James E. Ray, Bethlehem. The letter praised the fine treatment of all concerned shown to his daughter following a sledding accident last Feb. 5.

The entire membership of the board had praise for the efforts of Dr. Earl Willhoite and all others who took part in making the recent Community Chorus concert an "artistic and financial success." The affair was for the benefit of the General Hospital.

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Burglary of Shafer's Modern Cabins here was reported yesterday by Police Chief Fred Decker.

It was the fifth burglary noted in Monroe County since last Thursday night.

Contents of the office had been shoved around, but the place was not upset, Decker reported. It was not possible to determine what, if anything, had been taken because the place is closed for the winter. Owner C. E. Shafer is in Florida, Decker said.

Tonight at 8, a meeting of the county medical division of Civil Defense will be held in the headquarters office in the county courthouse.

The medical branch is currently working on the problem of mobile medical units.

Tonight at 7:30, the second meeting of the women's and men's Auxiliary Police school will be held at the Day St. firemen's building in East Stroudsburg. A large increase in attendance is anticipated for this meeting. Prospective members may still enroll tonight. Noting the exceptionally large attendance at the last meeting, State Instructor Arthur V. Jones said, "Wait until Harrisburg hears about this class!" Another state attendance record is apparently in the making for Monroe County.

Thursday at 8 p. m., a meeting of the directors and division heads will be held in the headquarters office in the courthouse. The purpose of this meeting is to chart the progress Civil Defense has made in Monroe County and to lay plans for expanding the program during the spring months. Discussion will cover all branches of Civil Defense. "This is a very important meeting," Executive Director Paul Crown said last night.

A radiological decontamination unit is now in the process of organization for Monroe County. The personnel of this highly specialized group will be solicited from scientists and science teachers in the various high schools, State Teachers College and from industries that employ men of this type.

It will be the purpose of this unit to provide radiological information for Civil Defense workers and the general public during time of nuclear bombing and to direct decontamination operations. A course of training is now in preparation for this group. Announcements of special significance in this field will be made shortly, Crown said.

Tonight at 8, a new Ground Observer Corps post is being opened in Brodheadsville. Official opening ceremony will be held in the Brodheadsville High School. Members of the Air Force Field Center and John C. Mills, director of Civil Defense for Chestnut Hill Township, will preside.

The first call to the Harrisburg Field Center will be made and the line opened for immediate service.

A specially trained photographic unit is being added to the Monroe County Headquarters staff. This unit will endeavor to cover important events in Civil Defense activities on a countywide basis, especially during time of natural or military emergency and during county and state alerts.

Dutch Treat Club Speaker Advises Americans To Look At Humorous Side Of History

By Leonard Randolph

LOOKING AT THE humorous, human side of history should help Americans appreciate their country more, poet Paul Engle told Dutch Treat Club last night.

Engle—who says his attitude is optimistic even though that's not the current fashion—traveled the tumultuous early years of America through the journals and personal letters of some of its first citizens.

Things haven't changed much, Engle noted at the beginning of his talk. Back in 1856 The New York Times ran a story saying that "no one will read books anymore because of the invention of an infernal machine."

The machine, he said, was the bicycle. Today, various sources are saying the same thing—this time about television, he noted.

One of the basic things which sets America off from the other nations of the world, he said, is the fact that "we're the first country . . . where it was decided all the people should learn to write. We don't know what the Trojan people thought when the crier came through shouting that the Greeks were outside because none of the (common) people wrote down their thoughts."

"But we do know what the people thought and felt and wrote" at the time of major American events "because the people wrote it down," he said.

Students usually think of the Puritans as severe, humorless people, Engle said. Then he contrasted this fallacy with quotations from the letters of John Winthrop, an early settler, to his wife, Margaret.

Engle called John and Abigail Adams "the most devoted couple I've found in American history." He quoted liberally from their personal letters to each other to prove his point.

These letters too were filled with humorous undertones and asides. After the Boston Tea Party, he said, Abigail wrote a letter to John Adams, then in Philadelphia, asking: "Is it all right for a loyal American woman to drink tea providing it has been honestly smuggled?"

John answered in the affirmative and asked Abigail to get hold of some and send it to him. Engle said, Abigail dutifully dug up the tea and sent a letter saying she was sending it.

Only trouble was, Abigail said, that she was forced to send it by a slow man—a politician who would "stop and make long speeches." Not only that, but he was that "one thing worse than a politician—a bachelor" which meant he would dally even more.

During the battle of Bunker Hill Abigail wrote saying she feared "our boys" were almost beat "but the British must still face our women," he said. In another letter, Mrs. Adams called the process of population increases "the most important branch of New England manufactory."

John, after a visit to an Army mess, wrote this humorous aside: "My dear, the American frying pan will kill more of our men than the British Army," Engle said.

Engle told his audience the Salem witchcraft trials had been exaggerated. They lasted only half a year, he said. During that period 19 persons were sentenced in Salem—but none were tried in Plymouth, he said.

Typical of modern "distortion" of the Salem incidents, Engle said, would be Arthur Miller's play "The Crucible." Miller, he said, used the Salem trials to put across his own condemnation of the American business community.

Actually, he said, the Salem witchcraft trials were brought to an end through the efforts and writings of a businessman who wrote a book damning them as foolish.

Engle closed his address with a brief description of the journal of a man who was a member of a Westward-bound wagon train and a quotation from one of his own poems.

It was an affirmative quote in keeping with the thread of the lecture—that modern men must learn and draw sustenance from the courage and individualism of the past.

Remembering the capacity for laughter, of course.

Jane Froman, Hero-Husband To Separate

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—The storybook marriage of Jane Froman is on the rocks.

The singer, for whom tragedy blossomed into romance after a plane crash 12 years ago, said in a brief announcement today:

"John and I have agreed to separate for the present."

He is John C. Burn, pilot of a plane that crashed in 1943 in the Tagus River in Portugal, carrying 24 of 39 persons aboard to death.

Both he and Miss Froman were severely injured, but he held her above the icy water for nearly an hour before they were rescued.

They were married seven years ago, in March, 1943. Miss Froman walked to the altar on crutches.

For five years, she had fought her crippling injuries, undergoing 25 operations and spending three out of five years in hospitals.

Today, as her agent here released the brief note of the couple's separation, she was on vacation in Miami Beach, Fla., because of an attack of neuritis.

She is skipping her weekly Columbia Broadcasting System television show this Thursday night, her agent said, because of the ailment.

There was no indication of the cause of the breakup.

Sen. Yosko Proposes Construction Of Wallpack Bend Dam

Asks Senate Approval Of Legislation

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28 (AP)—Legislation calling for Pennsylvania's approval of a proposed dam on the upper Delaware River reached the Senate today.

Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D—Northampton) introduced the measure to permit construction of the dam in the vicinity of Wallpack Bend, north of scenic Delaware Water Gap at Bushkill.

Similar legislation already has been passed by the New Jersey Legislature. Pennsylvania must approve the idea by July 1 in order to coincide with the New Jersey law, Yosko said.

The bill also would permit construction of a diversion dam on the Delaware River near Brookville or Yardley.

The entire project is an outgrowth of years of discussions and negotiations between Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

A number of New Jersey legislators are to meet with Pennsylvania's lawmakers in the office of Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader, on Wednesday to review Delaware River water supply problems.

Other new Senate bills would: Increase the investment powers of state administrative departments, boards, commissioners and officers to include bonds, notes or other obligations of the international bank for reconstruction and development — John H. Dent (D—Westmoreland) and James S. Berger (R—Potter).

Appropriate $5,000 to the Department of Military Affairs for payment of a claim of the loss of sight of an eye due to hazing in the Pennsylvania National Guard — Samuel B. Wolfe (R—Union).

Appropriate $150,000 to the Department of Property and Supplies for repairs and improvements to the Pennsylvania Soldiers and Sailors' Home at Erie — C. Arthur Blass (R—Erie), Albert R. Pechan (R—Armstrong), Hugh J. McMenamin (D—Lackawanna).

tunity to join the Red Cross and to aid in its work.

The work goes beyond the bounds of the county and the President of the United States has officially proclaimed March as Red Cross Month. The Red Cross, he pointed out, for more than 70 years has served as the nation's official volunteer agency to act in matters of relief under international treaties.

The American people through Red Cross membership and the voluntary contribution of their time, their blood and their money, have made possible discharge of obligations during periods of both war and peace. The Red Cross has through services to armed forces all over the world and extension of relief to sufferers from disasters at home and abroad, and through its program saved lives, salvaged hopes and preserved human dignities, he said, in urging all Americans to join and serve the Red Cross.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower appealed tonight for public support of the 1956 Red Cross drive for 85 million dollars and 20 million members.

The drive begins tomorrow. In a filmed message for use on television the President said that he personally believes the sights set by the Red Cross "are far too low."

"Mrs. Eisenhower and I," he said, "have just renewed our membership in the Red Cross. It is my ambition that by the end of March I can call every single American my fellow member of the American Red Cross."

With the chief executive at the White House when the film was made was a group of ten-year boys and girls. He said he asked them to be present "because these youngsters are our future leaders" and "our hope for a brighter tomorrow."

"Now many of these lessons of leadership to them learn at home, in their churches, in their schools and other organizations to which they belong. . . but they learn a lot from the Red Cross in which they are all junior members. They learn that the Red Cross is in fact our big brother. It typifies the spirit of the good neighbor. Now these sentiments—these qualities—are important to a democracy."

"They mean that we are ready to help one another. These youngsters will learn this as they see the Red Cross rush into disaster areas, to help out the unfortunate, to take care of every kind of disaster that befalls man in peace and in war."

The President said he personally is far better acquainted with the Red Cross in war than in peacetime because he spent so many years of his life in the Army.

"There they brought to the fighting man in all services a touch of home," The President said. "They made him feel his sacrifices were worthwhile and appreciated by all of us at home."

East-West Pike Plans To Be Aired

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and members of the Senate Highways Committee will get together this week to discuss new proposals for extension of the super highway.

Chairman George N. Wade (R—Cumberland), of the Senate committee, said his group will have "an open meeting with the commission and discuss all proposed extensions."

Top among the proposals are two suggested parallel east-west routes across the northern tier of Pennsylvania counties, one of them a more central route.

The committee appeared favoring the more southerly of the two proposed routes. This route would run from Sharon to Stroudsburg.

Sen. C. Arthur Blass (R—Erie), a co-sponsor of both measures, said he thinks the northerly route will be regarded as "too expensive" by the commission.

He explained that route "possibly would involve construction of tunnels."

"The more central route might be more feasible, particularly if Route U. S. 6 is widened," he added.

Last week a resolution was introduced by a group of senators urging that the State Highways Department request that improvements to Route 6 be included in the new federal highways plan.

The proposal calls for widening the highway, termed the most direct route, between Cleveland and New York, to four lanes across all of northern Pennsylvania.

Seventeen Republican and Democratic senators sponsored the Sharon-Stroudsburg route proposal.

Nationwide Vaccination For Polio

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said that plans are ready for nationwide polio vaccination this year if reports from last year's tests are favorable.

An evaluation of the polio vaccine, based on test inoculations on 1,800,000 school children last summer, is not expected until April of this year. However, the foundation said, state health officers have started a "preparedness program" so no time need be lost if the vaccine is approved.

Gifts Received By Hospital, Board Reports

MONROE COUNTY General Hospital has received gifts of $200 and two new valuable pieces of equipment. It was announced following the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors at the hospital last night. President Frank S. LaBar presided.

A bequest of $100 was received from the will of the late Charles W. Crommett, formerly of Monroe County. It is included in property located at Cherry Valley. A check for a similar sum was sent to the board by Atty. and Mrs. Reuben Golin of New York.

The Golin explained it marked the anniversary of an accident which resulted in their confinement at the East Stroudsburg hospital for six weeks. A letter stated the check was to show their appreciation for "the warm sustaining flood of human sympathy which buoyed us up and carried us through those troubled weeks."

An electric needle sharpener was added as a gift from the General Hospital Auxiliary. The other new equipment was a refrigerator for the nurses' home. The latter gift was from the Anne Logan Hospital Auxiliary.

Several other letters of appreciation were read during the meeting. One of these was from James E. Ray, Bethlehem. The letter praised the fine treatment of all concerned shown to his daughter following a sledding accident last Feb. 5.

The entire membership of the board had praise for the efforts of Dr. Earl Willhoite and all others who took part in making the recent Community Chorus concert an "artistic and financial success." The affair was for the benefit of the General Hospital.

Fifth Burglary Case Reported

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Burglary of Shafer's Modern Cabinets here was reported yesterday by Police Chief Fred Decker.

It was the fifth burglary noted in Monroe County since last Thursday night.

Entry was made by breaking the glass in a door of the office, then opening the lock from the inside, Chief Decker said. An adjoining screen was also jimmied.

Contents of the office had been shoved around, but the place was not upset, Decker reported. It was not possible to determine what, if anything, had been taken because the place is closed for the winter. Owner C. E. Shafer is in Florida, Decker said.

Brodheadsville GOC Post Opens Tonight At Ceremony; C. D. Schedules Meetings

A NUMBER OF important meetings have been scheduled for the various branches of Monroe County Civil Defense in the near future.

Tonight at 8, a meeting of the county medical division of Civil Defense will be held in the headquarters office in the county courthouse. The medical branch is currently working on the problem of mobile medical units.

Tonight at 7:30, the second meeting of the women's and men's Auxiliary Police school will be held at the Day St. firemen's building in East Stroudsburg. A large increase in attendance is anticipated for this meeting. Prospective members may still enroll tonight. Noting the exceptionally large attendance at the last meeting, State Instructor Arthur V. Jones said, "Wait until Harrisburg hears about this class!" Another state attendance record is apparently in the making for Monroe County.

Thursday at 8 p.m., a meeting of the directors and division heads will be held in the headquarters office in the courthouse. The purpose of this meeting is to chart the progress Civil Defense has made in Monroe County and to lay plans for expanding the program during the spring months. Discussion will cover all branches of Civil Defense. "This is a very important meeting," Executive Director Paul Crawn said last night.

A radiological decontamination unit is now in the process of organization for Monroe County. The personnel of this highly specialized group will be solicited from scientists and science teachers in the various high schools, State Teachers College and from industries that employ men of this type.

It will be the purpose of this unit to provide radiological information for Civil Defense workers and the general public during time of nuclear bombing and to direct decontamination operations. A course of training is now in preparation for this group. Announcements of special significance in this field will be made shortly, Crawn said.

Tonight at 8, a new Ground Observer Corps post is being opened in Brodheadsville. Official opening ceremony will be held in the Brodheadsville High School. Members of the Air Force Filter Center and John C. Mills, director of Civil Defense for Chestnut Hill Township, will preside.

The first call to the Harrisburg Filter Center will be made and the line opened for immediate service.

A specially trained photographic unit is being added to the Monroe County Headquarters staff. This unit will endeavor to cover important events in Civil Defense activities on a countywide basis, especially during time of natural or military emergency and during county and state alerts.

Let's Have No Dole

Opposition to liberalizing Unemployment Compensation in the Commonwealth is spreading. The speed with which the assembly has climbed on the bandwagon of higher employer premiums and widely extended benefits has alarmed employers greatly.

The apparent unfairness of the proposed abandonment of the merit system is unemployment employer-paid premiums is only one of the concerns. The extension of benefits from 26 to 30 weeks and from $30.00 to $35.00, plus a score of other expanded payment plans could spell bankruptcy for many small firms which have, heretofore, been able to shoulder their share of the burden of unemployment compensation payments.

In their eagerness to play to the labor gallery, certain state legislators are either ignoring or have lost sight of the fact that, in the long run, such procedures will drive industry from this state and preclude any possibility of replacing it with other manufacturing. No manufacturer in his right mind is going to walk into such a booby trap as is proposed by the proponents of these measures.

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has gone on record favoring retention of the state law as it now stands and points out the great danger of expansion.

Legislators who are pushing for passage of the completely new package it would seem are deliberately ignoring the fact that this law was intended as a protective measure solely to carry the worker along for necessary funds from his last job to his next one.

The package, as proposed, will be a "dole" in its truest sense, with already hard-hit employers footing the bill. This newspaper urges action from every fair minded person against such legislation, by writing your Senator, William Z. Scott, Lansford, Pa. and your assemblyman, Van D. Yetter, Marshalls Creek, Penna.

Paper, Paper, Everywhere

Too much written. Too much to be read, if it is. Too much red tape.

That's about the gist of what the Hoover Commission says about the endless paperwork which goes on in the Government.

For the first time, an official agency—former President Hoover's Commission on reorganization of the executive branch of the Government—has taken a full cut at Government red tape.

Every year the government produces 25 billion pieces of paper—letters, reports, forms, notices. Enough to reach the moon 13 times. That doesn't count pamphlets and things like that.

The people who do all this paperwork take up as much office space as there would be in 36 Empire State buildings. It takes 24 million cubic feet of space to hold the records—as much as seven Pentagon buildings.

The Hoover Commission's statistics make you gasp. But the main point is all this is costing the taxpayers four billion dollars a year. The Commission says there is no same reason why at least 250 million dollars of this can't be saved by a little more orderly procedure and less unnecessary paperwork.

In Washington, that may not sound like much money, but it would be equal to what 600,000 taxpayers would pay in income tax if each one were married, had two children and earned $5000 a year.

What we need is a national anti-red tape crusade—led off by Uncle Sam. It would save us money, and be a relief, too.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

How Does One Balance Normal Rights Of Citizen Against One Who Is Subversive?

Usually one thinks of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations as a body of conservative citizens. Its founder Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, was one of the greatest Jewish leaders this country has known, a citizen who taught loyalty to the United States without qualification. His son, Jonah Wise, is the rabbi of the synagogue where I have worshipped for more than 20 years.

I write then in sadness that so honorable and representative an organization as this should have felt called upon, at its recent Los Angeles Convention, to issue a statement on "Judaism and Individual Freedom" that is so based as to require general attention and comment.

The statement contains these sentences:

"The legitimate and necessary requirements of protecting ourselves from communist infiltration and espionage have been grossly exploited by some to justify certain government procedures which curtail freedom of speech and of conscience under the claim that these must yield to the larger security of the nation. The need for a calm, steady, and positive program to insure the triumph of democracy over communism has given way to a pathological fear of communism which inhibits the thinking of some political leaders and colors the judgment of many citizens. We oppose any effort, legislative or otherwise, which would make criminal the expression of opinion, no matter how controversial."

This country has sent its sons to war in Korea and has them scattered over the world at numerous bases because of the rise of Soviet imperialism. One of the devices employed by the Soviet Universal State, with great effectiveness, is the weakening of the will to resist by propaganda for Marxism and infiltration into governments and the institutions of the people. It has therefore become necessary, in all countries which have not been conquered by the Soviet Universal State, to establish a defense against these Marxist weapons which may be, and in instances have been, as deadly as other unconventional weapons of war.

It is not "pathological fear" to recognize the facts of history any more than it is "pathological fear" to recognize that the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb can be totally destructive. The communist expression of opinion has not even been opposed in this country, the proof being that the "Daily Worker" and other communist publications appear regularly. What the United States has done has been to pass, by orderly constitutional means, legislation to defend itself against espionage, infiltration, and the corruption of the people by carefully devised patterns of Marxist penetration.

The statement further says: "We have tended to proscribe every person and organization at any time pro-Soviet, including many of the most effective present opponents of communism, and regardless of whether former attitudes now condemned were at the time consistent with our national policy."

I should like to see some names, particularly of "the most effective present opponents of communism" who have been proscribed. A broad generalization such as this requires some details before it can be discussed. I do not know of any proscriptions by our government. In all the investigations by various Congressional committees, I have not come across a single name of "the most effective present opponents of communism." I do not think that those who passed this resolution can prepare a list of such names.

Further the statement says: "We would defend all constitutional privileges and immunities without regard to the guilt or innocence of those who invoke them. In our view, the preservation of these rights is of greater significance to our way of life than any benefit our law enforcement agencies can derive from curtailment or suspension of these rights."

Again, the generalization is startling. "Constitutional privileges and immunities" must be balanced by obligations, duties and responsibilities. There is no privilege or immunity which can safeguard a man from the consequences of his serving another nation as a spy upon his own country.

The statement further says: "We believe that the preservation of civil rights and civil liberties is a function of government equal in importance to the prosecution of subversive offenses."

Precisely what this means it is difficult to say. How does one balance the normal rights of a citizen against one who engages in "subversive offenses"? The function of the state is to protect its citizens against those who engage in subversive offenses as it is its function to safeguard its citizens against kidnappers and burglars.

Russia Needs Loose-Leaf History Of Its Affairs

If I had any idea whom it might concern I'd proposition the Russians again on an idea that would come in very handy over there—a loose-leaf history of the Soviet Union.

Unfortunately, a person has to be careful about making business overtures to Soviet bigwigs these days. A new man may be doing business at the old stand by the time the letter arrives and any friendly gesture toward his immediate predecessor could be enough to get you tagged for liquidation.

I don't know whether they have "junk mail" in Russia but I am toying with the idea of sending my suggestion to the Kremlin addressed just to "Occupant."

The beauty of a loose-leaf history in the Soviet Union, of course, is that it simplifies the ground. Also of purging the party literature of embarrassing allusions to fallen idols.

There was a time when this wasn't a problem. Old Lenin, for instance, had done so much talking and writing that it would have been wholly impracticable to pull him out of the records. The only thing to do was to make a party saint of him and relegate him to the shadowy realm of legend.

The same circumstances held in the case of Stalin. He had been in charge a long time when he died and had made a good thing of peddling books outlining his views on all conceivable subjects. It would have taken a whole Five-Year plan to revise him completely from literature.

But once the Russians had to drop down to the third-stringers this new problem arose. From the standpoint of the man in the saddle it became highly desirable to be able to show that his roots ran deeper than they actually did. And it was equally important to show that leading rivals for the top spot were rotten apples that had better be removed from the barrel in the interests of hygiene.

Thus when Beria was purged it was deemed expedient to go over the record, remove as many references to him as possible, and make sure that the others put him in proper perspective as a double-edged stinker. This made it necessary to scrap thousands of encyclopedias that otherwise would have had a lot of mileage left in them.

Now, with Malenkov on the slide, it will be necessary to go through that whole process again, meanwhile injecting heretofore neglected data to make Khrushchev and Bulganin look good—or at least better.

With my system there is none of this tedious, expensive nonsense. A new dictator merely removes the pages of history that refer to troublesome rivals, inserts new pages properly rewritten, sends out his laundry and sits back to listen for the footfall of the next assassin. What could be simpler?

A reader writes all the way from London to tell how he returned home from a Whit Monday holiday to find his little squirrel, Nutkin, missing. Summoning his parrot, an accomplished linguist, the Londoner demanded, "Where's old Nutkin?"

"It having been a holiday and all," he explained, "I believe Nutkin took his family to the beach."

Steve Allen ran into a confirmed pessimist who looked even more woebegone than usual. "Did you ever," he demanded of Steve, "have one of those mornings when absolutely everything went right?"

"I know I'm not exactly in the pink," explained a bedraggled salesman, three days late for an appointment to exhibit his fall line. "I'm just recovering from a slight case of whiskey."

Unpaid Federal Tax Greater By More Than $437 Millions

Washington, March 1.—A new federal tax record has been chalked up—after a fashion!

The amount of unpaid federal taxes is greater than ever before.

As of November 1, 1954, when the last official report was compiled, the total of these uncollected taxes had soared to $1,389,808,000. This is an increase of $437,810,000 over November 1, 1953.

This doleful information comes from the top tax collector himself, Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews disclosed it at a private meeting of the House Appropriations Subcommittee that is considering his budget. He is asking for money to hire additional agents.

Andrews told the Subcommittee that the number of uncollected tax accounts had also reached an all-time high—1,618,000. This is 423,000 more than in the previous year.

Andrews attributed this unhappy situation largely to two factors:

(1) Collection difficulties resulting from an urgently needed reorganization of the scandal-ravaged Revenue Service and the installation of a new accounting system; (2) inability of taxpayers to meet their levies owing to economic setbacks, particularly among small businessmen. Andrews noted the increase in these concerns that are expiring, many of them owing government tax bills.

In one regard, however, Andrews cited a big improvement: Last year, an increase in the number of Revenue agents authorized by Congress made it possible to scrutinize 16 percent more tax returns.

"We found errors in about 60 percent of the returns examined," said Andrews. "That produced a lot of money, around $20 for each $1 spent for this purpose."

The possibility that the Revenue Service itself might be chiefly responsible for this high percentage of challenged returns was raised by Representative James Murray (D., Ill.). Many of his constituents are making that charge.

"I am getting complaints every day from lawyers and others saying they can't make heads or tails out of your new tax forms," declared Murray. "They are baffled; and if they are stumped, you can imagine the predicament."

Racing Ban In Force Years Ago

—by H. G. Heller

HENRY W. Shoemaker, president Pennsylvania Folklore Society, tells us that re-introduction of bills in the Legislature to permit track betting on horse races, recalls early days of racing in the state which were marked by an anti-racing law in 1762, and Gov. Simon Snyder's message to the legislature in 1813, when he called for confiscation of all horses intended for racing purposes.

Historical sketches of horse racing in the state indicate the favorable reactions of wealthy sportsmen and the long continued antagonism by pious Quakers. Shoemaker notes.

"F. B. Culver says: 'Pennsylvania never shone conspicuously on the early racing turf, a fact which may be explained on account of the attitude, with respect to amusements maintained by the Quaker settlers. The Philadelphia Yearly Meeting in 1716, advised Friends that such be dealt with as run races either on horseback, laying wagers or use any gaming or needless and vain sports and pastimes, for our time passeth swiftly away, and our pleasure and delight ought to be in the law of the Gospel.'

"Stevenson Whitecomb Fletcher in his noted work on Pennsylvania Agriculture published by the Historical Commission, said: 'Trailing horses were scarcely known here when "Messenger," a thoroughbred stallion was brought to Philadelphia from England in 1788. From him have descended many of the best trotting horses of the country. Thoroughbreds were tall, light and nervous—too nervous for use on the farm but well suited for the saddle, carriage and race course.

"Messenger" met a cool reception here. The Pennsylvania Legislature passed a law in 1762, prohibiting horse racing; this restriction continued until 1813. In that year Governor Snyder, in a message to the General Assembly, recommended that horses bought for racing be confiscated. Therefore, were trained for the road rather than for the track; "Messenger" was taken to New York in 1793."

In 1883 the Committee on Agriculture of the House considered sympathetically a petition that a law be passed to improve the breed of horses by testing their speed by means of legalizing racing.

Cast Chosen For College Production

"JOAN OF Lorraine" by Maxwell Anderson will be presented on March 31 and April 1 in the auditorium at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. The play is under the direction of Ralph Smith of the Speech Department.

This Mask and Zany production is being presented as part of Religious Emphasis Week. The play, which consists of 28 parts, has a cast of 24 members. It includes four players doubling in parts and took six evenings to cast.

Katherine Mertz, a veteran performer, will play the part of Joan. Miss Mertz, a junior in the elementary curriculum, lives in Nazareth. She is a member of the Women's Executive Council and Alpha Psi Omega, the college's dramatic fraternity. In her freshman year, she played the part of Countess Olga in "You Can't Take It With You" and the dean of women in "Goodbye My Fancy." In her sophomore year she portrayed Clara Wilson, the gold digger, in "Petticoat Fever." This year Miss Mertz was student director of "Out of the Frying Pan."

Larry Kilek, of Easton, has the male lead in "Joan of Lorraine." Kilek will play a dual role in this production. He is cast as Masters, the director, and as the Inquisitor, the principal judge at Joan's trial. Larry has had parts in "Silver Whistle," "She Stoops to Conquer," "You Can't Take It With You," "Goodbye My Fancy," "The Visitor," and "Petticoat Fever"; all productions of the dramatic club at ESTC.

Other members of the cast include: George Zaludek, Moconaque; Barbara Cook, Brown's Mills, N. J.; Jean Lamson, Inkerman; Phil O'Neil, Allentown; Paul Peters, Bangor; Frank Nealon, Scranton; Jack Martin, Wilmington, Del.; Gerald Davis, Waymart; Rod Standard, Stroudsburg; Adrienne Murphy, Caldwell, N. J.; Virginia Hess, Stroudsburg; Royal Johnson, Furlong; Dick Wagner, Nicholson; Jim Passaro, Allentown; John Wiggins, East Stroudsburg; Melinda Young, Easton; Dick Hilliard, East Stroudsburg; Al White, Great Bend; Ralston Jones, Jim Thorpe; Bill Staples, East Stroudsburg; and Bill Pfeiffer, Easton.

Alpha Psi Omega, college honorary dramatic fraternity, is assisting with the production with Miss Katherine McFarland as advisor.

The President spent about half an hour experimenting with different colors before deciding on just the right shade of green for his barn—pale-green, with white trimming to match the house. With the approval of Mrs. Eisenhower, the Chief Executive also helped interior decorators select colors for the interior of the house.

Burmese Premier Too Late With News Of Red China's Desire For Talks With U.S.

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

IT'S A STRANGE bit of business, this belated word through Premier U Nu of Burma that Red China would like to have "informal" talks with the United States about releasing 13 convicted Americans and easing international tensions.

For one thing, it comes weeks after U Nu's return from a visit to Peiping, during which period he made no mention of the matter to the United States but did let it seep out unofficially, so that his announcement yesterday by no means represented first publication.

Reporters in Rangoon got the impression that the idea was U Nu's own, presumably presented to the Peiping regime during his visit there. It's a guess, since the Reds have taken no initiative on their own, that its reception on their part was primarily passive rather than active approval.

The idea fits their general tactics, however. They got quite a propaganda lift from the visit of the secretary general of the U. N. an organization which bars them and brands them as aggressors. They would get a similar lift out of emissaries from the United States, the powerful chief agent of their international discomfiture.

First state department reaction—in the absence of any word from Secretary Dulles since U Nu took the matter up with him—was that the United States should not bite.

For the time being, the United States is standing on her original position that the fliers were representing the United Nations when captured, that their detention is illegal, and that it is up to the U. N. to free them.

The realities of the situation, however, are that the United States has obtained the release of few hostages from behind the Iron Curtain except on a barter basis. The trouble in this case is that she has little if anything to offer outside of direct appeasement by knuckling under to impossible demands, such as the scuttling of the Chinese Nationalist regime or a switch on U. N. membership for Peiping.

There is recognition in Washington, too, that while it is proper for the U. N. activities to continue, the time for release of the fliers is not actually ripe. The Reds, be they European or Chinese, never turn loose on such an issue until they have squeezed the last drop of propaganda benefit from it. Also, they naturally want time to try to get from at least one of the prisoners a reaction such as that obtained from two other Americans, just released, who came home spouting the Communist line.

Douglas, Humphrey Clash Over Depression Prediction

By Ed Creagh

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) demanded today that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey apologize for saying he went around "howling calamity" and predicting depression in 1954.

No apology was immediately forthcoming. Humphrey told Douglas that if the Illinois senator didn't forecast depression "then I have been very seriously misled."

The Douglas-Humphrey clash came at a Senate Finance Committee hearing on a House bill to cut income taxes by $20 a person.

Humphrey, opposing the cut, said administration policies have kept business conditions good in spite of gloomy forecasts from opponents last year.

"Some of your colleagues," he told Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), who was questioning him, "were howling calamity and saying we were going into a great depression."

Kerr challenged Humphrey to name any Democratic senators who made such a forecast and Humphrey, after some hesitation, named Douglas.

Douglas wasn't in the room at the time but he came in a few minutes later and promptly took issue with the Treasury secretary.

He read passages from four speeches in which he spoke of 1954 as a "recession" year and called on the administration to take steps to prevent the recession from getting worse.

But nowhere, Douglas said, did he predict a depression, and he told Humphrey:

"I think you have been reading the publicity handouts of the Republican National Committee."

Then he urged Humphrey to "set the record straight," saying: "It's about time you nailed this canard once and for all."

Humphrey replied that if he and a great many others weren't justified in thinking Douglas expected a depression "then I have been very seriously misled."

He agreed to look over the record after Douglas said: "I ask you to study it — and apologize."

AMONG THE ODDITIES of the current basketball season for both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools is the fact that 69 has been a frequent visitor to both box scores, and might even be considered a magic number, although it didn't always result in a winning score. Both the Cavaliers and Mountaineers were faced with the 69 complex on at least three occasions.

Stroudsburg won two of the three games in which the winning team had 69 points, while East Stroudsburg was on the losing end of two of three scores featuring 69 tallies. The Mountaineers defeated Carbondale 69-60, lost to the Alumni 69-57, and came back to clip Lehigh, 69-52, in a first half Lehigh Valley League encounter. The Cavaliers on the other hand lost to Parkland 69-66, in the first half and by a 69-46 score to the same team in the second half of the Lehigh-Northampton League.

East Stroudsburg, in the second half of the LNL race, took the measure of Hellertown, 74-69. It must be noted that both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg have been outscored by the opposition this season, the latter by a smaller margin than the former. This may or may not be a significant note as far as tonight's clash between the arch rivals on the W. Main St. court are concerned.

The Cavaliers of East Stroudsburg have scored 1,435 points in 23 games this season, or an average of slightly more than 62 tallies a ball game. The Eastburg opposition came up with 1,439 markers in the same number of games for a mark of something like 63 points per encounter. Stroudsburg on the other hand has come up with 1,188 tallies in 20 games, or an average output of slightly more than 59 counters a battle. The opposition has come up with 1,251 points against the Mountaineers, or an average of approximately 61 tallies each trip to the starting gate.

On the basis of comparative scores, which mean absolutely nothing in modern athletics, but do make valuable conversation pieces, East Stroudsburg has an edge of three points offensively, but Stroudsburg appears to be the stronger defensive contingent by a margin of two points. All in all figures point to a nip-and-tuck contest—just what we've been saying all the while.

I don't believe we can give an advantage to one or the other of tonight's rivals on the basis of committing personal fouls. Both have been plagued by this division of basketball all season and while the front line troops leave the contest for a lengthy period of time both clubs are in trouble. East Stroudsburg can present replacements with the greater height, but Stroudsburg's reserves have a little more speed which brings us right back to an even footing.

The subject of common foes leaves us hanging high and dry once again. Stroudsburg defeated Bangor early in the season, 62-38, and East Stroudsburg has taken the measure of the Slayers on two occasions, 77-60 and 75-62. The Mountaineers have defeated Whitehall twice, 63-55 and 57-54, while the Cavaliers upended the Zephyrs in their only clash, 58-43. Stroudsburg lost a pair to Lehigh Valley League champion Palmerton. The first was by only seven points, 39-32 but the second by a wide 58-33 margin.

East Stroudsburg's only bout with Palmerton, in the Lehigh Valley League Invitation Tournament, found the Bombers finishing on the long end of a 75-53 count, although the Cavaliers trailed by only four points late in the third round and nine counters at an early stage of the fourth period. Both teams will be shooting for their 12th win, as mentioned yesterday, and their will be no advantage either way in the altitude department.

Regardless of what rooting section you plan to sit in, it must be admitted that there is very little to choose between these two quintets. The first two meetings, which found the arch rivals breaking even, served notice that there seldom has been two more evenly matched quintets in this area and that we can expect both squads to take out all stops in an effort to round out the season in a blaze of glory. Tickets are still available, purchase them sometime today and arrive at the W. Main St. court bright and early tonight. Seats will be worth their weight in gold as there are no, I repeat no, reserved seats for tonight's contest. May the best team win.

Johnsonville, Portland Quit Officially

STOCKERTOWN—Portland and Johnsonville officially withdrew from the Blue Mountain Baseball League last night during a meeting of the circuit here at the Stockertown Fire House.

Portland was represented by LeRoy "Cheesy" Egbert and Everitt Reimer, while Lester Zeigfus was on hand in behalf of Johnsonville. The three representatives also announced that Portland and Johnsonville were withdrawing from the league, but the circuit refused to take official action on the latter two because they weren't represented at the gathering.

Tatamy moved to accept the Portland and Johnsonville withdrawals and Martins Creek seconded the motion.

Portland officials, it was reported, accepted responsibility for forming a new league, to be known as the Bi-State League.

The Blue Mountain League agreed to hold a special meeting at the Tatamy Fire House on Monday, March 14, to consider several applications for admittance to the loop for the 1955 season. Those who may fill the vacancies are Madison A. A. of Phillipsburg; Glendon, N. J.; Moorestown, Pa. and Hecktown.

Armond Williams, secretary-treasurer, ruled over last night's gathering in the absence of Fred Tedesco, vice president, who was elevated to the office of president at last night's meeting. Tedesco succeeds Woodrow Jones, Nazareth, who recently resigned as president. The league decided to operate with only a president and secretary-treasurer in the future, after a move by Tatamy, which in turn was seconded by Easton.

Tatamy, Stockertown, Bath, Martins Creek and Easton were represented at last night's gathering.

A lengthy discussion took place concerning back bills still to be collected and Pocono A. C. was one of the teams in mention.

Stroudsburg Junior High Wins Finale

STROUDSBURG JUNIOR High closed out its basketball season yesterday with a convincing 37-19 decision over Pen Argyl, on the Stroudsburg High School court.

The win was the sixth straight and eighth of the current season and the second over Pen Argyl. The Mountaineers have suffered three defeats to date.

Coach John Whitehead's Stroudsburg contingent took all doubt of yesterday's contest bright and early. They ran up a 12-2 edge in the first round and remained far in front the remainder of the distance.

Stroudsburg held a slim 7-6 advantage in the second stanza and reached the halfway mark with a 19-8 lead.

The Mountaineers held sway in the third round, 12-3, and the outcome was assured, even though Pen Argyl had the better of the going in the last quarter, 8-6. Stroudsburg was on top of the field goal heap, 16-7, and made good on five of 14 foul shots. Pen Argyl converted five of 24 free throws.

Ronnie "Super" Philips paced the Stroudsburg attack with 17 points, while Art Ruggiero led the Pen Argyl offense with 12 counters.

Varsity 'E' Meeting Postponed

A SCHEDULED meeting of the Varsity "E" Club, listed for East Stroudsburg High tonight, has been postponed until next Tuesday, it was revealed last night by Kirk Shaw, club president.

The postponement was made necessary because of tonight's Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg basketball game.

This contest is on the books for 7:15 p.m.

Gray's Chevrolet and Williams Pharmacy, both very much in the pennant race at the present time, will battle in the nightcap. This game is on the books for 8:30 p.m.

Lehigh Tops Pitt In Midget Loop

CANADENSIS—Lehigh evened its Barrett Midget Basketball League record at two wins and a loss with a 12-0 victory over Pitt, here on the Barrett High School court.

Both teams scored two points in the first period, but Lehigh, paced by Vaughn Gravel and Carl O'Merle, broke the contest wide open with a 12-0 advantage in the second stanza.

Pitt held the upper hand throughout the second half, but the margin wasn't nearly large enough to turn the tide of battle.

The losing team held a slim 4-3 edge in the third round and a 6-5 advantage in the home stretch. Lehigh had the better of the going in field goals, 8-6, and made good on six of 16 foul shots. Pitt converted two of six free throws.

Mikvy To Visit Barrett

MOUNTAINHOME—Barrett High's basketball team will be honored at the annual banquet and bonapart sponsored by the Barrett Lions Club, here at Onawa Lodge.

The banquet will be held at 7 p.m.

Bill Mikvy, former All-American basketball star from Temple University, will be the guest speaker. Mikvy played his high school basketball with Palmerton, of the Lehigh Valley League, where he still owns records. He also campaigned with the Philadelphia Warriors, of the National Basketball Association, before entering the Army.

Johnson's Diner and Williams Pharmacy are currently sporting 500 records, the former with a 2-2 mark and the latter with a 1-1 state.

West End is currently featuring a mark of one favorable decision and four of the unfavorable variety. Gray's squad has

Arch Rivals Seek To Break Deadlock

STROUDSBURG and East Stroudsburg High Schools will decide who is the basketball master, at least for the 1954-1955 season, on the W. Main St. court tonight before one of the largest crowds in the history of the ancient rivalry.

Each club has won one game this season and is thirsty for the juice of the sweetest victory of all tonight. The junior varsity activity is listed for 6:45 p.m. and the main event at approximately 8 p.m.

Stroudsburg opened the season with a 53-50 nod over East Stroudsburg, but the Cavaliers bounced back in the Lehigh Valley League Invitation Tournament to rock the Mountaineers, 67-63. Since that memorial date in December both squads have been looking forward to tonight's encounter.

Both squads will be shooting for their 12th victory of the campaign, the Mountaineers to go with nine setbacks and the Cavaliers an even dozen reversals.

East Stroudsburg will be searching for its fifth straight victory as the charges of Coach Dick Forster enter this contest with their longest winning streak of the campaign still in operation. Stroudsburg will be out to land its third straight favorable decision.

Both coaches expect one of the toughest contests of the campaign, with breaks destined to play a major part in the battle.

John Kupice, Stroudsburg's very popular mentor, said that he will use a combination of defenses and offenses in the game, changing them as often as necessary. He also said that he would use all his seniors, seven in number, and anyone else on the squad if necessary to win.

Forster had little to say in a pre-game statement except that he expects a real battle right down to the wire. He also fears Stroudsburg's outstanding rebounding strength and its ability to win the "big" games on its home court.

Forster pointed out that all five of his seniors, playing their final game, will be in the starting lineup. This means that Barry Lambert and Howard Smith will be in the forward posts, while high scoring Bill Pensyl operates at his usual center post. Bob "Red" Kupiszewski and Bill Sommers will anchor the club at the guard spots. Danny Marvin, Dick Gray and Jim Kimer, all juniors, will also probably see action.

Kupiszewski will play with a protective guard over his injured eye, while Pensyl's recent ankle injury seems mended and ready for full scale duty.

Kupice revealed last night that his starting talent will feature three seniors, a junior and a sophomore. The seniors include Dick Little at center; Dave Nevil, forward and Don Deibler, guard. The junior will be Francis "Sonny" Dieber, guard, while Doug Shook, the sophomore, handles a forward spot.

Other Stroudsburg seniors who may see action are Dick Hintze, Bob Metzgar, Wallie Adelmann and Tom Metzgar.

Kupice reports his Stroudsburg quintet in good physical and mental condition.

Both schools are expected to hold pep rallies for their cagers today. Tickets are still available, but reports last night indicated that they were moving fast. Adult tickets, at one dollar, may be purchased at Flagler's Drug Store and DeVivo's Shoe Repair Shop, in Stroudsburg, and at Kresge's Drug Store and the Lantz Store, in East Stroudsburg. They are also available at both schools. Student tickets are priced at 35 cents.

There will be no reserved seats and officials of both schools urge everyone to arrive early in an effort to avoid a last minute rush for seats. The doors will open at approximately 6:15 p.m.

Ladies Bowl Today

THREE MATCHES are listed for the East Stroudsburg Ladies' Bowling League at Harmon's Recreation today, at 6:45 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys five and six—Ballantine's vs. Square Bar.

played three games thus far in the second half and now list one victory and two reversals.

One Pocono Mountains League contest is on the agenda tomorrow and will send Johnson's Diner against the Stroudsburg Poconos, in the Stroudsburg High School gymnasium. This game is listed for 8 p.m.

CAVALIERS—Senior members of the East Stroudsburg High School basketball team are shown above in "V for Victory" formation around Coach Dick Forster. Costanzo Leads TTHS Quintet To Nod Over Barrett, 76-49

POCONO PINES—Willard Costanzo wound up his scholastic basketball career in a blaze of glory last night by scoring 46 points and leading Tobyhanna Township High to a 76-49 Monroe County League decision over Barrett, here on the TTHS court. It was the final circuit clash of the season for both teams.

Costanzo, equalling his former season high of 46 markers against Pocono, tossed 15 field goals and 16 free throws into the cords last night, as TTHS registered its fourth victory in 15 outings and tied Polk for fifth place in the final standings.

The TTHS center and captain scored 12 points in the first round, feats, and Parkland, by winning last night, tied for second place in the second half race with Fountain Hill. The Warriors were given the green light on the basis of their overall record. Parkland's second half mark was six victories and two setbacks.

Wilson, including both halves, won 11 and lost five contests against circuit opposition, while Parkland finished with a 10-6 mark and East Stroudsburg won only seven of 16 league outings.

The choice of Wilson Borough was by a unanimous vote. Coplay and Fountain Hill, who battle for the Lehigh-Northampton League championship at Catasauqua tonight, will take part in the class "C" and "B" playoffs respectively.

Coadale, suspended from further basketball this season and placed on a year's probation at a meeting in Tamaqua on Saturday, was reinstated to good graces last night.

Although the reinstatement wasn't by a unanimous margin, the committee adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas Mr. Andrew Kalen has withdrawn as coach for the remainder of the 1954-55 basketball season and whereas Coadale school directors have assured the District 11 Committee a full investigation, therefore be it resolved of this date, February 28, 1955, that Coadale High School be declared eligible and probation for one calendar year remain."

This means that Coadale is now eligible to compete in the District 11 playoffs beginning this week, despite Saturday's action. Coadale was originally suspended after a hearing growing out of "roughing up" charges filed by Mahanoy City High.

A Mahanoy City player was seriously injured in a recent game with Coadale and Mahanoy City officials charged that the injury was the result of orders from Kalen.

Randolph Harvey, supervising principal at Coadale, and four school directors represented Coadale at last night's business session.

Leesburg, Fla.—Ray Steele, former baseball and basketball star at East Stroudsburg High School, will begin spring training here with Columbus, Ohio, of the class "AAA" International League in the near future.

The towering right handed pitcher is currently resting here in an effort to overcome a sore arm that ruined this spring's chances of winning a berth with the Kansas City A's during a two-week special school for farm hands held at Sanford, Fla.

Steele worked three innings in a game at the school. He retired five batters on strikes, walked one and allowed a lone single. But the sore arm occurred at this point and the Bushkill native saw little action the rest of the time.

Lou Boudreau, Kansas City manager, advised Steele to rest and then go to work with Columbus. The veteran major league pitcher praised Steele's work and predicted a bright future for the former Pike and Monroe County star.
